“Don’t sweat the little stuff,” Hancock County Relay for Life’s 2023 Survivor of the Year Kathy Washington said. “Whenever I get through with all this, everything I’ve wanted to do, I’m going to end up doing before I leave this world.”

Mandy Ladner and Tosha Tousant, Washington’s bosses at Hollywood Casino in Bay St. Louis, nominated her for this year’s Survivor of the Year honors.

“Kathy is the epitome of positivity when it comes to going through cancer and being a survivor and coming to work,” Ladner said.

Tousant said it made sense.

“Since I’ve been here, there’s been tons of changes and when I tell you, she’s embraced all those changes and she’s done it with a very even keel demeanor,” she said. “When I found out she was a cancer survivor, I was like ‘no wonder!’”

Tousant said Washington has been a clear foundation for the slot department at Hollywood Casino.

“Her team just absolutely loves her and they work really hard for her,” she said. “If I could duplicate her, I would.”

Ladner said Washington is a long-term member who started out as a slots supervisor and worked her way up to her position now.

“As a female leader in the casino industry, that alone is a feat in itself,” she said. “But for her to be a cancer survivor on top of that and to be successful throughout her journey is just amazing.”

Tousant described Washington as the “poster child for breaking barriers.”

“Beating cancer, and being a woman in a very male-dominated indus-

In a relatively short amount of time, Bay St. Louis entrepreneur and mom of four Caroline Davis has become an internationally-known social media influencer, cookbook author and domestic goddess with more than 1.6 million followers on TikTok who wait ravenously for her every post as the Mississippi Kween.

“I actually started on TikTok in November 2020,” Davis said last week, “but I didn’t start cooking (on the platform) until February 2021.”

Before that, she said, “I just (recorded) crazy stuff, whatever was going on at the time — I never talked to the camera.”

And her teen-agers thought it was “cringe,” she said.

Davis said she only started on the platform to keep an eye on what her kids were up to on it “and make sure they were being nice and not doing anything crazy. ... I didn’t want my kids on social media in the first place — I limit their time on there.”

Governor ends State of Emergency; local entities lift burn bans

ECHO STAFF

Gov. Tate Reeves on Thursday ended the Aug. 18 State of Emergency, which prohibited burning in 40 counties, including Hancock.

As a result, the Diamond-head Fire Department announced it was lifting its burn ban and now operating under its normal open burning policy.

Fire Chief Michael Munger also reminded residents that the "burning of trash or debris is never allowed in the fire district."

Waveland Fire Chief Tommy Carver Jr. announced that the city of Waveland's burn ban is also lifted.

"We would like to remind everyone that it is illegal to burn within the city limits without a burn permit," Carver said in a release. "Burn permits may be obtained by calling 228-467-2042.

Waveland Fire Department's Controlled Fire Authorization states the guidelines for issuance of a permit: "Natural vegetation only, safe area around fire with continual standby, (competent person), with a height of material not to exceed three feet and five feet in diameter. Lot clearing is not allowed. A garden hose on standby, with a minimum distance of 50 feet from any structure, with area cleared to prohibit spread within that 50 feet. All fires should be extinguished by the homeowner/attendee any time before the fire is left unattended, and burn times are 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily. Upon a justifiable complaint from citizens, or if fire is endangering passerby such as public street or private property, said fire shall immediately be extinguished as directed by the fire department. All fires shall be constantly attended until fire is out. Permits do not authorize lot clearing or burning. The city of Waveland prohibits burning on city roads, streets, ditches, ditch banks, and city right-of-way."

The city of Bay St. Louis also lifted its burn ban, but reminds residents that, prior to engaging in outdoor burning activities, they must obtain a fire permit from the Bay St. Louis Fire Department at 228-467-4736.

"We appreciate the community's cooperation during the burn ban period," BSL Fire Chief Monty Strong said. "While the ban is lifted, we emphasize the importance of obtaining a fire permit and practicing caution to prevent any unwanted incidents. Safety remains our top priority."

The unincorporated areas of Hancock County are no longer under a burn ban, either, Hancock County Emergency Management Director Brian (Hooty) Adam said Thursday.

THE SEA COAST ECHO | THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 2023

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

Dr. Jennifer Seal, president of the Hancock County School District Board of Trustees, has been named the 2023 Board Member of the Year by the Mississippi School Boards Association (MSBA) at the MSBA Fall Leadership Conference on November 14 in Flowood, MS. Dr. Seal has served on the Board of the Hancock County School District for 17 years and has served in the president's position on several occasions. The Board Member of the Year Award began in 2009 and honors a current school board member who has exhibited distinguished leadership during his or her tenure as demonstrated by effective efforts in:

- Advocating for children,
- Increasing student achievement,
- Understanding school board governance, and
- Involving the community in the children's education

Dr. Jennifer Seal

Dr. Seal's dedication to the students of the Hancock School District is to be commended. According to nomination materials, several years ago, Dr. Seal established a college scholarship in honor of her mother-in-law who valued education and volunteered in the schools for many years. She awards this scholarship every year. A few years ago, the young lady who received the scholarship had no transportation to the local community college 20 miles away. Dr. Seal met this graduate's needs by driving her to and from college each day for more than two years.

Dr. Seal humbly accepted the award with this quote, "The Hancock County School District Board of Education is an amazing team who works diligently with the MSBA and teachers, parents, and administrators in fulfilling the challenge of teaching, nurturing, and mentoring our most valuable assets." "Dr. Seal was nominated by her superintendent, which speaks volumes about the board/ superintendent relationship and her focus on student, staff, and community success," said Denotris Jackson, MSBA Executive Director. The MSBA Board Member of the Year Committee consists of school board members from across the state of Mississippi. She was selected from an outstanding pool of nominees who all exemplify strong board leadership and governance that has translated into student success.

HCPHC Hosts Groundbreaking for Port Bienville Railroad Storage Yard

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission staff, local officials, and industry representatives gathered for the groundbreaking of the new Port Bienville Railroad Storage Yard on Wednesday, November 15, 2023, at the McDonald Business Center in Bay Saint Louis. The Port Bienville Railroad Storage Yard represents one of the most substantial investments by HCPHC into the railroad in many years. Guest speaker Bruce Lambert with Maritime Administration spoke on the 6-million-dollar project during the groundbreaking on Wednesday. The project is being funded by Maritime Administration's Port Infrastructure Development Program and will expand the existing rail line with the addition of a rail sidetrack and storage yard track ladders, thereby increasing its capacity by 150 car spaces. The Port Bienville Railroad Storage Yard expansion will extend capacity from 450 cars to 600 cars. The enhanced capacity of the rail lines will enable HCPHC to more effectively cater to current tenants and create prospects for future developments in regional transient storage. The tracks and siding will involve 12,173 square feet of additional storage track and include 9 turnouts, 6,087 steel ties, and 9,739 tons of ballast. These additional spaces are expected to increase the HCPHC's storage capacity by 25% so that it can safely manage the current storage operations and meet the current repressed storage demand. In addition to the immediate safety and demand benefits, the Port Bienville Railroad Storage Yard project will allow Port Bienville plants to increase production and give the HCPHC the ability to market the increased rail capacity to rail companies looking for opportunities in the region, including the New Orleans Public Beltway, the Port of New Orleans, and CSX. The increased access and usage is expected to remove some of the shipping truck traffic currently involved in these connections, making these interstate and highway corridors safer. Neel-Schaffer, Inc. is overseeing the engineering of the railroad storage yard, situated alongside the existing Alpek Polyester lead. The project is being constructed by Continental Rails Inc. The Port Bienville Railroad Storage Yard construction is underway and is anticipated to conclude by early fall 2024. Hancock County Port & Harbor Executive Director/CEO Blaine LaFontaine remarks on the new milestone," The Port Bienville Railroad Storage Yard project represents a new milestone in Port Bienville and Hancock County as the largest investment in our railroad in over two decades. The project increases our capacity allowing us to better serve our tenant demand, improve safety and efficiency for our employees and provide opportunities for transient storage regionally."

try," Tousant said. "She's great."

Washington, originally from Alabama, moved to the Mississippi Gulf Coast in 1993 and has worked at the Hollywood Casino for 13 years.

"I love it," she said.

She is a slot manager, meaning she pays out jackpots and ensures attendants are following the gaming commission's and company's policies and procedures.

Washington said her job involves a lot of interaction with people.

"I love being around and talking to people," she said.

She is married to Roosevelt and they have two daughters.

A year before she turned 33, Washington said, she discovered a lump under her left arm.

"They tested it and it was fine," she said.

When Washington was in high school, she said she wanted to become a nurse.

"So, I did the self breast exam," she said. "I did that every morning religiously as a teenager and as I got older."

During one of the self exams, Washington said, she felt something that felt like a marble, which didn't feel like the original lump. So, she made an appointment with her gynecologist, who said it could be "hormonal" or "something minor."

"So, he put me on vitamins for about a week or two to see what that was going to do," Washington said. "After that happened, it didn't get any bigger, but it was still there."

After further testing, the doctor performed a biopsy, and she was diagnosed with Stage 2 breast cancer in her left breast.

"I wasn't hurting, it wasn't bothering me, I just knew something wasn't right," she said.

Washington said she opted for lumpectomy instead of a mastectomy, after she got a second opinion.

With a lumpectomy, doctors go in and remove the cancerous cells,

Washington said.

"Then if you want, you can do the reconstruction," she said. "I didn't do the reconstruction because I didn't want to be out longer than what I had to be. It does look very different, but I would rather live with that, so it don't bother me."

After the lumpectomy, Washington said, she underwent chemotherapy and radiation.

"It was tiring, scary," she said. "I was more worried about my family than myself."

Washington's children were young at the time of her cancer diagnosis.

"I'm the caretaker, I take care of everybody else, I always put myself on the side," Washington said. "Then I had to focus on me and I wasn't used to doing that."

She said her husband loves to cook.

"He did the cooking, cleaning, and everything," she said. "He still does."

To help her get through treatments, Washington said, she listened to soft music, meditated, read her Bible, and took time for herself.

Five years after her diagnosis, Washington said, she was considered cancer free.

"I cried and said 'thank you, God,'" she said.

Washington is now 20 years cancer free.

She still has to get her yearly mammograms and is always making sure she is taking care of and paying close attention to her body, she said.

Washington wants people to know that it's important to know one's body.

"Pay attention to your body because your body always sends you signals, you just don't pay attention to them," she said. "Early detection is key, because I really do believe that saved me."

Washington said she was honored to be named Survivor of the Year and she plans to get more into Relay for Life.

"I have a story," she said. "I like to take care of people and listen and be genuine."

dents at the school spoke about how important it was for generations of Black people in Hancock County.

"We want it to be here forever and ever and for generation after generation in Bay St. Louis and Hancock County," Master of Ceremonies Clarence Harris said.

"The Valena C Jones School has served as the Center of the rich Educational, Cultural, Political, Social and Historical heritage for thousands of minority families," according to the petition the Friends of the school circulated last year, successfully lobbying to get the school recognized as a state landmark in April 2023. "The Valena C Jones School has served families in Hancock County and Bay St Louis in particular."

Harris, who graduated from the school in 1967, said the effort to preserve the school's history began with the late Art Clementin.

"He said 'We better hurry up, because age is catching up with us all.'"

Harris said they formed the Friends of the Valena C. Jones School and were able to secure a grant from the Mississippi Humanities Council to fund preservation efforts.

"It's been very special to us to be a part of that effort," Allison said.

MHC board member Dr. Deanne Stephens said when Allison reached out to her "out of the blue," she knew immediately she was "going to be involved with something that is very, very special."

"As a historian ... I've now had the opportunity to help preserve history first-hand."

Valena Cecelia

MacArthur Jones was born in Bay St Louis, MS in 1872. After graduating in 1892 from Straight College, a historically black college in New Orleans, she was named principal of the then-Bay St Louis Negro School in 1892. Later, the school would be named in her honor.

The school operated for 80 years from 1892 to the last graduating class of 1969. From 1969 to 1972, the school served as a primary school until its closing.

After that, the property served as the headquarters for both the Bay St. Louis Fire Department and Bay St. Louis Police Department until Hurricane Katrina struck in 2005.

Since then, the site has served as the home of the Hancock County branch of the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast.

"This collection of oral histories and preservation of the culture of the city/neighborhood in the 1950s/1960s is intended to educate, entertain, and empower the African American community" according to a press release issued by the Friends of the Valena C. Jones School. "These oral histories are a powerful recognition of the struggle for civil rights, barriers to education, and successes in life of so many graduates of this school."

To highlight some of those struggles and success during Tuesday's program, former students and teachers spoke to the audience.

Alice Jackson Wright and Clementine Williams, formerly a teacher at the school, took the main stage, with Williams fielding questions from Wright and the audience.

Williams taught at the school for five years, from 1965-1968.

At that time, there were no graduate school programs available to African-American students in Mississippi, Williams said, so she had to go out of state to finish her education.

Williams said that VCJ students "were good children, because they knew I could call their parents at any time" since the parents were so involved with the school.

It was a close, happy, dedicated community, she said, but "We were really (treated as) second-class citizens at that time."

"As good, smart and intelligent" as the students were, she said, the educational tools the board of education allotted to the school "were not up to par."

"It was not what they had at Bay High," she said.

She had a friend who was a teacher at Bay High who would let her have access to more resources so she could share them with her own

While she lived at home with her family, Williams said, "a lot of the teachers were living with different families" because it was difficult for them to find their own homes nearby.

"In May of 1968, the superintendent came to the school and talked to the teachers and said at that time that the school was closing and we would be integrated into Bay High and North Bay (Elementary), Williams said"

Only about five of the VCJ teachers would be employed at one of those schools, she said, the rest would be "displaced."

Although Williams was invited to be one of the five to be employed, she said she didn't feel right about it and declined.

Most of the teachers found work in other districts.

Other speakers for the presentation were Gladys Dedeaux and Evelyn Wells, who were members of the Class of 1969; and Cheryl Thompson, director of the Gulfside Assembly, shared stories from Valena Broussard Dismukes and Pamela Patelis, the granddaughter and great-granddaughter, respectively, of Valena C. Jones.

Snow nostalgic

It’s often referred to as one of the “best Christmas movies of all time.” No, it’s definitely NOT a Hallmark movie. I recently saw this movie a few years ago and I really enjoyed it. It’s called “A Christmas Story,” made in 1983. The film is based on Jean Shepherd’s semi-fictional 1966 book “In God We Trust: All Others Pay Cash.” The main character is Ralphie Parker and all he wants for Christmas is a Red Ryder Action 200-shot Range Model air rifle, but his mother and even the department store Santa Claus tell him “You’ll shoot your eye out.” I’m not going to give away the plot of the movie, but the collection of stories, narrated by an adult Ralphie are pretty funny. The story is set during the 1940s and one of the things I love the most about the movie is the aesthetics. I love all the browns, the soft lighting effects, and the cozy feeling it evokes. Well, last week, the nephew, who helped me think of this week’s column because Cass Cass needed some inspiration, finally got the snow he has been wishing for in Alaska. Side note: His first two choices for a topic were Minecraft and his “Lego army,” but I didn’t have a lot of time for those. So I told him I would have to set up a time to interview him about those subjects. Almost as soon as he could, he donned his snow pants, (how cute, right?) his snow boots, his gloves, and hat and ran outside to play with the other neighborhood children. From my sister’s pictures, the little town where they live now has this vintage vibe to it, from the housing to the tall trees, mountains, and water ways. The snow on the trees and mountains is quite the beautiful sight as well. My sister sent us countless videos and photos of my nephew and his friends sledding and playing in the snow. My industrious little dude also shoveled the snow off the driveway. He is always making his Cass Cass proud. But their antics in the snow remind me so much of Ralphie and his friends a “A Christmas Story.” I need to find him some vintage clothing and then the picture would be complete, or maybe I can find him a pink bunny suit. He would definitely dislike me for that one.

Hancock History: 100 Men Hall

One important historic landmark in Hancock County is the 100 Men Hall that recently celebrated its one hundredth birthday. This iconic African American landmark at 303 Union Street in Bay St. Louis is one of the oldest surviving juke joints on the Mississippi Blues Trail. The 3,500 square foot clapboard building is a treasure for the Gulf Coast region. The 100 Men Hall is a living legend because of its membership on the Chitin Circuit during the first half of the Twentieth Century. A juke joint is an African American dance hall that provides music, dancing, and drinking. A honky-tonk is an establishment frequented often by white working class clientele usually providing country music. The Chitlin Circuit was a collection of performance venues throughout the eastern, southern, and Midwest areas of the United States. These juke joints provided employment and cultural acceptance for Black musicians, comedians, and other entertainers in that era. In 1894 twelve civic minded men formed a co-op to pay for Black medical and burial expenses. They called their organization the “Hundred Members Debating Benevolent Association.” Their civic participation gave rise to a fellowship, and the 100 Men Hall was erected in 1922 to safely house all live events that happened in Bay St. Louis. The Hall quickly became a Black energy center hosting music and all life events from baby showers to repasts. Over the decades the Hall attracted legendary Black musicians such as Ray Charles, James Brown, Etta James, Sam Cooke, B B King, Chuck Berry, Fats Domino, Irma Thomas, and countless others at a time when white-only clubs forbid their entry. This landmark is one of the rare physical sites still standing on the Mississippi Blues Trail. The Hall operates as a non-profit, multipurpose, music venue, hall rental and community space. It seats 225 people with standing room for 400. The 100 Men Hall is seeking to recruit volunteers interested in the preservation and maintenance of this landmark

Conservation Corner: Parasites of Deer

Many of you may have encountered several parasites and/or diseases that white-tailed deer are susceptible to as you were cleaning a deer after a successful outing. The spread of disease is most common in herds with high deer density, although outbreaks seldom impact the quality of venison. However, any deer that appears to be ill due to systemic disease should be considered unfit for consumption. Here we will look at some of the parasites found among deer. Ticks. There are reportedly 18 tick species known to infect deer. Most often, deer with tick infections exhibit few to no symptoms. However, those with severe tick infections may present with irritated skin around the tick site, poor body condition, weight loss, and other secondary infections. Large Stomach Worm. Deer can carry low to moderate amounts of this parasite and be symptom free. However, large quantities of this parasite can cause the deer to become weak, anemic, underweight, and overall malnourished. Once infected, eggs are eliminated through the deer’s waste, and the larvae crawl onto surrounding vegetation where they are picked up by other deer during feeding. Although this sounds extremely unpleasant, these parasites pose no harm to humans. Arterial Worms. Infected horseflies are to blame for this parasite being transmitted among white-tailed deer. Once delivered through the bite of a horsefly, the larvae migrate to the carotid arteries in the deer’s neck. When only a small number of worms are present, the deer is likely to exhibit no symptoms of infection. However, when large numbers are present, blood flow to the jaw muscles is reduced causing diminished nutrition absorption and can lead to emaciation as well as secondary infections at the site of food impaction. Ear Mites. Caused by a specific species of mite, most deer demonstrate no signs of having ear mites. However, severe infestations have been shown to cause secondary infections of the inner ear which may cause the deer to become clumsy and uncoordinated—much like humans with inner ear infections. Abdominal Worm. Not to be confused with the large stomach worm, this worm lives freely in the abdominal cavity among, but not inside, the deer’s organs. Transmitted through mosquito bites and appearing as thin, white noodles, these worms can often be seen by hunters during field-dressing. Liver Fluke. One to three inches in length, the liver fluke looks much like a leech in the adult stage. Feeding on blood, the liver fluke takes up residence in capsules inside the deer’s liver. Eggs are passed in the deer’s scat. Demodectic Mange. This is caused by a specific species of mange mite. Deer infected with mange will present with hair loss and skin thickening with small, pus-filled lesions. It is primarily spread through contact with another infected deer and can be fatal to deer, especially fawns. However, because mange infections are limited to the skin, the meat is safe for human consumption. ECHO STAFF Officers with the Hancock County Sheriff's Office on Thursday arrested Regio D. Lavant after a pursuit that ended in Harrison County.

According to the release, the driver picked up a male passenger, who was later identified as Lavant, in New Orleans, LA with a destination in Gulfport.

The Uber driver stated that Lavant was acting suspicious and appeared to have a gun in his waistband, the release states.

Deputies located the vehicle on I-10 east bound, mile marker 10 at the weigh scales, the release states.

The Uber driver was out of the vehicle and Lavant was still inside the vehicle, the release states.

Deputies then observed Lavant exiting the vehicle and walking towards the Uber driver, the release states, and commanded Lavant to get on the ground.

According to the sheriff's office, Lavant looked at deputies and then hid behind the vehicle with an unknown object in his hand and refused to comply with officers.

Lavant then got into the Toyota Highlander and fled eastbound in I-10. Deputies pursued the vehicle on I-10 into Harrison County where Harrison County deputies took over the pursuit, the release states.

Deputies recovered the vehicle on Hwy. 49 near Orange Grove Road after it collided with another vehicle, the release states.

Officers with the Harrison County Sheriff's Office and Gulfport Police Department placed Lavant under arrest after he attempted to flee on foot, the release states.

Lavant is currently being held at the Harrison County Adult Detention Center on charges through the Harrison County Sheriff's Office. The Hancock County Sheriff's Office will be placing a hold on Lavant for the charges of motor vehicle-felony taking and felony eluding law enforcement, the release states.

Honestly, any pictures of my nephew warm my heart, but the ones of him playing in the snow bring me a lot of much needed joy.

He is clearly having so much fun and I'm glad for it. I know it's hard on them being so far away from family, so any little joy he can find, I'm glad for.

When he comes inside, his little cheeks are rosy red from the cold and it's one of the most adorable sights.

He is becoming accustomed to having his hot chocolate afterwards. He told his mom the other day that it makes him feel like an adult sipping his chocolate from the mug without a straw.

They have also started the nightly ritual of watching Christmas movies with loads of popcorn. No popcorn is safe around my nephew.

I hope he will add this movie to the rotation. It's hard to draw him away from his favorites, the “Home Alone” series.

As a child of Southern Mississippi myself, I never had the type of snow days he experiences nor have I ever been on a sled.

Maybe one day, I can have my own “A Christmas Story” moment, but for now, I will enjoy my nephew's contagious excitement for the snowy activities.

While she wasn’t clas-sically trained as a chef, Davis’s daughter con-vinced her to try posting a cooking TikTok, and she quickly went viral. Previously, Davis had been in the business world, with 15 years in food service manage-ment, then switched to custodial management. Eventually, she got tired of working for others and started her own business managing and cleaning Airbnb properties. After taking off on TikTok, Davis started posting on Instagram and then, in March of this year, Facebook, and now has more than 190,000 Facebook followers. Shortly after she be-came Internet famous, a publisher reached out and she has now writ-ten and published three cookbooks.

In her videos, Davis prepares what she calls “simple” dishes, often with a lot of cheese and/ or garlic. “My all-time favorite is shrimp Alfredo,” she said. “I also make fried green tomatoes with crawfish cream sauce.” If she’s shredding cheese, she usually makes sure to take a bite to make sure it isn’t “poisoned.” “If I don’t check the cheese, my followers let me know,” she said. She also usually thanks her viewers for coming to her “fake cooking show.” Another of her trade-mark moves is slamming something down on her kitchen counter as she comes into frame at the beginning of each video. “That started out by accident,” she said, but her daughter convinced her to keep it in and her followers love it. Davis said she’s en-joying her success, so far. “I get recognized all the time now when I’m out in public,” she said. “And I love it — I also get very excited, because to me, I’m just a regular ol’ person, so to get re-cognized for being on so-cial media, it’s exciting for me. I get recognized pretty much everywhere I go now. It’s very cool.” While it is fun, and it is helping her gener-ate income to fix up her house, Davis said, it’s still a lot of work. “If I post a video, be-tween filming, editing and posting, I typically spend six to eight hours a day on it. If I want a day off, I don’t post a video.” She also spends a lot of her time reading and responding to emails and social media posts from her fans. “The most common question I get that I think is so bizarre is, ‘which of your children are ad-opted?’ or ‘which are from foster care?’ None of them — they’re all my children! To me, it’s so strange. Last night, I got an email asking if I was married — they will ask the craziest things, sometimes.”

And the answer is yes, she is married, and Da-vis’s husband takes her rising fame in stride. “He shrugs it off,” she said. “I’ve learned to go with the flow. At first, it used to get under my skin and offend me, but now I just figure ... it’s the price of putting your-self out there.” Davis is often joined on-camera by her young-est two children, “Bub-ba” and “Baby Girl,” one of whom will appear at the end of each video to taste the food with her and give it the seal of ap-proval. The best part of fame Davis was the fea-tured speaker at the Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis’ meeting last week at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. She told Rotarians that her favorite part about the fame she has earned is the ability that comes with it to do some good in the world. Last year, she said, she reached out to her TikTok followers with an Amazon Christmas wish list to help some students at South Han-cock Elementary School. Her original intent was to get Christmas presents for 10 children, but her followers bought out the list in seconds and were asking for more, so she got together with the school district and expanded the list to include a bigger variety of items for more people. “We got 3,600 pack-ages, about enough to serve 240 families be-cause of that, and it looks like it’s going to be bigger this year than it was last year. This is very exciting.”

This year, Davis has an Amazon wishlist and a Walmart wishlist. In-terested parties can go to her website, www.mississippikween.com, and click on the wish list registry. You can also order her cookbooks and other merchandise at her web-site. If you’d like to meet the Mississippi Kween in person, she’s scheduled to do a “meet & greet” at Sugar Pop Baking Co. at 335 Coleman Ave. in Waveland from noon-2 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 9. “Just show up,” Davis said. “I always love to meet new people.”

Thanksgiving

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. Gerald Richardson, D. MIN.

One of the greatest truths of the human experience, and one which is often overlooked, is that life is gift. It can reasonably be argued that life is the most precious and important gift that can be received.

For most of us, this writer included, there has never been a more profound moment than when we are introduced to our newborn child. The significance of the gift of life continues throughout the many stages which we know in our lives. Even when challenges come and we are confronted with conflict or disappointment, we are still very much aware that the gift of life itself is among the greatest of all.

It is in that spirit that we approach this day of Thanksgiving. It is a great blessing to be alive, to interact with family and friends, to enjoy the beauty of the world around us, and yes, even to face the problems and hardships which sometimes come.

Virtually all of the religions and cultures in the known history of the world have recognized the truth of the value of an attitude of thanksgiving. The story of the early pilgrims giving thanks in the company of native people has probably been overly dramatized, but the spirit which it conveys is no doubt accurate. Giving thanks is a natural emotional desire within the human spirit. It impacts our lives in profoundly positive ways.

*Giving thanks is a spiritual practice. It does not have to always be religious, but it is spiritual. There is something deeply intrinsic within the human condition which prompts gratitude when we reflect on the gifts and blessings which we receive in life.

*Giving thanks is a reminder that we are recipients in life. Our natural tendency is often to focus on all the good work that we have done to make things happen. It is true that we often do good work. We are often instrumental in bringing about positive outcomes in the various aspects of life. It is, however, important to remember that whatever we accomplish is made possible due to the raw materials at our disposal. We did not create our human abilities. We may have developed them with hard work, but the original capacity comes as pure gift. Thanksgiving is a good time to remember that great truth.

*Giving thanks is an opportunity to show appreciation to other people for the differences for good that they make in our lives. There are often many people who make positive, and even essential, contributions to our well-being. It is safe to say that each of us can name people who enrich our lives in meaningful ways. Thanksgiving is an appropriate time to give thanks for their lives.

*For many of us, primary gratitude is offered to that spiritual presence which, though shrouded in mystery, is the author of all gifts. This is the season in which that gratitude is properly expressed, and the spirit of grace is received.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING

Health Officials Confirm First Pediatric Flu Death of 2023-2024 Season

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

The Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) reports the first confirmed pediatric influenza death in Mississippi for the 2023-2024 flu season. Pediatric deaths are defined as deaths of individuals under 18 years of age. Including this reported death, there have been a total of 25 pediatric flu deaths reported in Mississippi since pediatric flu deaths became reportable in the 2008-2009 flu season. Flu season typically peaks in January through March in Mississippi, and the flu shot usually takes up to two weeks to produce immunity.

“Vaccination is the best protection against flu and the severe outcomes from flu infection,” says Interim State Epidemiologist Dr. Kathryn Taylor, “All individuals 6 months of age and older are recommended to get an updated flu and COVID-19 vaccine this season.” Flu shots for those 18 and under who are eligible for the Vaccines for Children program are available at County Health Departments. Insurance, Medicaid, and Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP) are also accepted for children’s flu shots. A list of all VFC providers can be found at www.HealthyMS.com/vfc. Adults who are under-insured or uninsured and who meet certain high-risk criteria qualify for an adult flu vaccination at MSDH county health department clinics. Flu shots for insured adults are widely available through private physicians, pharmacies and retail centers. While vaccination is the best protection against flu, basic infection control measures can also reduce the spread of flu and should be taken whether or not individuals are vaccinated. These measures include covering your mouth when coughing and sneezing, staying at home when you or your children are sick, and washing your hands frequently. Individual flu cases are not reported to MSDH. The agency monitors flu activity through the ILI System, made up of healthcare providers in Mississippi who report the percentage of patients with flu-like symptoms to a statewide database. Providers participating in the system also submit respiratory samples for flu testing to the MSDH Public Health Laboratory. State health officials use this information to determine the presence and spread of flu throughout the state. For more information on flu, visit the MSDH website at www.HealthyMS.com/flu. Follow MSDH by email and social media at HealthyMS.com/connect.

Library System seeks artists for return of FanFest

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

After the booming success of last April’s return of the Hancock County Library System’s version of a comic con on the Gulf Coast, the HCLS will once again present the day-long free event which saw nearly 1000 people pass through the Bay St. Louis Community Hall venue. The area’s library system is seeking original art that features wide-ranging Pop Culture themes from local

Hancock County artists to be displayed and used in various ways during the FANFEST event. Last year’s winners had their artwork reproduced on the cover of the event program, while another image was used as the design for the collectible FANFEST t-shirt. Applications from artists — both young and old — are open for HCLS’s FANFEST 2024 art contest. The deadline for submissions is December 1, 2023. Original art submissions can be from Hancock County residents ages 12 and older. Individuals are invited to apply online at hcls.info/fan-fest. Art can be submitted via an electronic document (scanned version) or as an original, but all art entries are due by the December 1st deadline. The HCLS FANFEST 2024 event will be held on Sunday, April 21, 2024, at Bay St. Louis Community Hall on Blaize Avenue in the Depot District. One of the many attractions for FANFEST is an art exhibition of all of the art submitted by area artists during the event’s art contest. FAN-FEST is the display of fabulous art submitted by talented artists of all ages. FANFEST is one of the library’s most popular annual events — a mini-con where Pop-Culture fans celebrate comics, cosplay, super heroes, high tech gaming, and more. The FANFEST art contest is an opportunity for illustrators to showcase their work and ideas, especially in the realm of comics and manga. Winners will be featured on promotional material for the event, including the event guidebook and commemorative t-shirt. Submissions should be the original work and sent to the library as a digital image file. Instructions for submitting artist designs are in the online application. For full details and more information about the art contest and ways to participate in FANFEST persons can visit the HCLS web site at hcls.info/fan-fest.

DWGAN GOLFING NEWS

FROM OCTOBER OF 2023

BY SHIRLEY HALTERMAN
SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

With far more pleasant temps we have a lot more golf activities to report to you in October.

This month we also held a Hooky Spooky Pumpkin contest to raise funds for our junior golfers. I must say we have some extremely creative ladies in our group.

Our normal Trophy Day was held on Tuesday, October 3rd, on the front nine of the Cardinal Course. With beautiful golfing weather, 30 of our members came out to play. This allowed us to field three flights with ten gals competing in each flight. And, our Low Net Winners were: Flight One - 1st Place - Ann Nutting, 2nd Place - Judy Tauzin and 3rd Place - Betty Perry. Flight Two - 1st Place - Margaret Sherwood, 2nd Place - Catherine Gesell and 3rd Place - Janice Murray. Flight Three - 1st Place - Pattie Blackwood, 2nd Place - Nancy Barker and 3rd Place - Carole Griffin. Lowest Putt Honors went to Judy Tauzin in Flight 1, MA Harfoush & Kim Knight tied for this award in Flight 2 and Ruthie O'Neill grabbed the honor in Flight 3. Closest-to-the-Pin awards were given on both the 4th and 7th holes. In Flight 1, Ann Nutting took the honors on Hole #4 and Toni Rossol on Hole #7. In Flight 2, Mary Murray came closest on Hole #4 while Cathy Gesell did it on Hole #7. Not to be left out, Flight 3 winners were Ruthie O'Neill on Hole #4 and Pattie Blackwood on Hole #7. Kim Knight scored not one, but two, Chip-Ins on Holes 3 & 8 while Jerry Ingraham accomplished this feat on Hole #3. Plus Ann Nutting had Birdies on both Hole #4 and #6. Well done gals!

On Tuesday, October 10th the Nines and the gals from our 18 hole group hosted the Annual Pink Hearts Tournament to raise funds for Breast Cancer. Some gals who do not play with either group plus five gals from the Oaks Course joined us for a total of 48 gals participating. Watch for a coming article with complete information about this event including the total amount raised.

On Tuesday, October 17th, we played our Annual Beat-the-Pro competition. Thirty-two of our gals showed up to attempt to beat the score entered by one of our favorite pros - Richard. Now you must understand that his scratch score is recorded while we get to use our handicaps giving us a definite advantage. Twenty-two of our members managed to earn their "Beat-the-Pro" pins. Toni Rossol did the best job of beating the Pro with a score of one under par 35. While the photo only shows 15 gals trouncing poor Richard, several others were camera shy or had to leave early and are not included in the pic. We really do love you, Richard, but were very happy to have earned Beat-the-Pro pins.

Tuesday, the 24th found us playing a Shamle on the Pine Course. Since 18 gals came out to play we fielded six teams of three players. The game was total gross team score with at least two drives being required from each team member. The First Place winning team was made up of Nancy Barker, Cathie Gesell and Judy Lakota while Second Place was taken by Carole Griffin, Margaret Sherwood and Nancy Sislow. Not to be left out the team of Shirley Halterman, Beryl Laird and Judy Tauzin took Third Place. Also, Margaret Sherwood garnered a Chip-In on Hole #5.

A Mixed Bag Game was played on our last Tuesday of October. Our gals gave it their all playing through some cold and drizzly weather. It really was not a great day for our Halloween Trick or Treaters. Since It was Halloween, our players were encourage to wear orange and black. During this competition, each player plays their own ball but the team scoring is as follows: Scoring for Par 3s uses all three team member scores (unless the team has four players. Then only the best three scores are used.) On the Par 4 holes the team uses the best two scores and on the Par 5 holes only one best score is used. We managed to field five teams - three four member teams and two three member teams with Cathy Gesell and Gale Lammers playing as the "ghosts." The First Place Winning Team was composed of Pattie Blackwood, Carole Griffin, Mary Alice Harfoush and Anne Payne. Second Place Team was made up of Sylvia Corban, Tracey Garriga, Gale Lammers and Janice Murray. Third Place Team included Nancy Barker, Barbara Manix, Judy Tauzin and Cathy Gesell playing as the ghost.

Watch for more adventures with the Diamondhead Nines during the coming Holiday Season as we play more rounds, have some parties, and close out 2023.

As our Handicap Chairman, Brigitte, always says, "May the Fores be with you."

TIGERS OFF TO FAST START IN DEFENSE

OF STATE TITLE, LADY TIGERS NOT FAR BEHIND

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

The high school soccer season has started for area teams. The Bay High Tigers are off to a fast start in defense of their Class 4A state title while the Lady Tigers are not far behind. Here is a quick recap of recent action.

BAY HIGH TIGERS

The Bay High Tigers are

5-0 with wins over Hancock 2-0, Long Beach 2-1, Pascagoula 3-1, Gautier 7-2, and Moss Point 7-0. The Tigers are currently 5-0 overall and 1-0 in division play.

The Lady Tigers have picked up wins against Hancock 3-1, Gautier 2-1, and Moss Point 8-0 while falling to Long Beach 4-0 and Gulfport 1-0. The Lady Tigers are 3-2 overall and 1-0 in division play.

HANCOCK HAWKS

The Hancock Hawks are currently 2-2-1 overall with wins over Poplarville 2-1 and Hattiesburg 7-0. They tied 0-0 with D'Iberville and dropped games against Bay High 2-0 and St. Martin 2-1.

The Lady Hawks are 1-3-1 overall with their lone win coming against Hattiesburg 7-0. Hancock tied Pearl River Central 2-2 and dropped games against Bay High 3-1, St. Martin 7-0, and Poplarville 3-1.

ACADEMY CRESCENTS

The Crescents are 1-1 overall with a 9-0 win over Perry Central and a 4-0 loss to Ocean Springs. The win over Perry Central is also a division win.

SAINT STANISLAUS
ROCK-A-CHAWS

The Rocks are off to a 3-1 start to the season with wins over Biloxi 3-0, East Central 5-2, and Perry Central 11-0. Their loss is a 1-0 decision against St. Martin. The win over Perry Central is a division win.

LADY HAWKS UNDEFEATED,

ROCKS TOP PASS CHRISTIAN AND ST. MARTIN

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

With the gridiron completely closed down until 2024, the hardwood season is now open. The lights in gymnasiums are set to shine bright through February. All area teams were in action last week prior to the Thanksgiving break.

BAY HIGH TIGERS

The Bay High Tigers (0-4) missed on two chances last week against Harrison Central and Bowling Green, Louisiana. In the boy's Harrison Central Game last Tuesday, the Red Rebels came in ranked #5 in Mississippi and left the same way beating the Tigers 53-14.

The Red Rebels jumped out to a 11-3 lead in the first period and pushed the score to 31-5 at intermission. The Red Rebels went to the line 21 times in the game, as well.

Bay High head coach Kelton Thompson stated, "I am proud of how we played in the first quarter on defense. We return about 3% of production from last year so we are a very young team right now. We have a long way to go to see what we are made of. When we battled tonight on the floor, we showed glimpses of what is to come for us. We have to continue to get better and stack quality minutes on top of each other. It will be a process for us but if we continue to work hard, we will get better."

Anthony Robinson led the Tigers with 9 points and Charlie Fairley led the Red Rebels with 9 points.

In other recent action for the Tigers, they fell to Forrest County AHS 42-31, Gulfport 64-34, and Bowling Green 41-37.

In the girls' game, the Lady Tigers (3-1) stumbled in the first half getting behind 26-11 at halftime. However, in the second half the Lady Tigers outscored the Red Rebelettes 29-25 and showed determined resolve in the 51-40 loss.

Lady Tigers head coach Kelton Thompson commented, "We outscored the #3 team in the state in the second half. We abandoned our game plan the last 10 minutes of the first half and they surged ahead. We got away from what we need to do to be successful. We played much better and stuck to what we do best."

Emmalee Coote led the Lady Tigers with 9 points followed by Kiara Burney with 7 points, Kelis Vickers with 6 points, and Nakeria Coleman with 6 points. Jayla Carriere led Harrison Central with 17 points.

In other recent action for the Lady Tigers, they beat Bowling Green 42-40 on Friday, beat Forrest County AHS 45-7 on November 7 and D'Iberville 38-24 on November 11.

HANCOCK HAWKS

The Hancock Hawks have dropped games against Presbyterian Christian 54-52 on November 7, West Harrison 32-26 on November 9, and Pass Christian 48-42 on November 11.

The Lady Hawks remain undefeated at 4-0 with wins over Presbyterian Christian 56-41, Pass Christian 61-23, and Presbyterian Christian again 43-35.

CRESCENTS

The OLA Crescents (1-3) picked up their first win of the season against Pope John Paul II last Wednesday 50-30. In other action, the Crescents stumbled against Ben's Ford Christian 80-41, Purvis 57-43, and Long Beach 48-34.

SAINT STANISLAUS
ROCK-A-CHAWS

The Rocks (2-1) are off to a fast start with a big rivalry win against Pass Christian last Wednesday 47-42. The victory marked the first time the Rocks have secured a win on the hardwood against Pass Christian since the 2018-19 season.

The Rocks jumped out to a 11-4 lead in the first period highlighted by an old-fashion three-point play by Max Baria.

Pass Christian came roaring back in the second period with 6-0 run to start the frame. They took their first lead of the game on a three-pointer by Brendan Necaise with 5:16 left that put them up 16-14. The Pirates would not surrender their lead until the fourth period. Pass Christian led 22-20 at halftime.

The third period saw the teams battle back and forth exchanging baskets. Henry Williams and Paxton DeBardeleben each scored five points in the period for SSC. But Noah Lemmon stole the show with a buzzer-beater three-pointer that knotted the score 35-35 heading into the final frame.

The Rocks went on a 5-0 run to start the final frame and did not look back.

SSC head coach Daniel Grieves commented, "Tonight is a testament to the guys that have been in the program for three years. They are figuring out what we have been asking of them, how to play in situations, and why we call certain things at particular times. We do not have all of our football guys dressed out yet as they are still getting into basketball rhythm. Pass Christian is an outstanding program led by an outstanding coach in Buddy Kennedy. For us to be able to get a win like this speaks volumes about how hard we have worked to get to this point. I am very proud of effort tonight."

Paxton DeBardeleben led the Rocks with 12 points followed by Spencer Cornell with 10 points. LJ Jaynes led Pass Christian with 15 points followed by Brendan Necaise with 8 points.

The Rocks fell to Purvis to open the season 57-53 and beat St. Martin on the road 49-34 on Friday.

SHORE THING: A TALL TAIL

Shore Thing
Fishing Report
BY CPT. SONNY SCHINDLER

As many years as I have been taking people fishing, I try to not take any of it for granted. Yes, most days you see the same stuff and catch some of the same species of fish. Even still, I seldom get tired of it. However, every once in a while, you get to see Mother Nature put on a real show.

Take for example, a recent trip to Cat Island. We were on a multi day trip with some regulars from Tennessee. Bill Dickerson, Stewart Frazier, and several of their buddies, have been fishing with us for many years now. For the most part, it's business as usual, we go for looking speckled trout, red fish, and the occasional big shark or bull red or Jack Crevalle. I'll be honest, with that hot summer we had, the speckled trout fishing was slow at best. We spent the majority of our time together, soaking baits in channels for big Fish.

The last afternoon is when the magic happened. We had four boats spread out in all directions, trying to find some Fish. We were all also trying to hide from stout winds, that made the waters choppy. Captain

Kenny found one section of the island that was a little bit out of the breeze. We could hear him over the radio when he announced, "fellas, I'm covered up in bait fish, and it looks like there are redfish tailing all over these sandbars". It didn't take but a few minutes, and we had all four boats pressed against the island, all marveling at what we were seeing. There were countless big bull reds and black drum, basically standing on their heads, rooting around in about a foot and a half of water. Some of these fish's tails were the size of a dust pan. This show went on for what seemed like hours. Some of the fish swam right up to the side of the boat. I have seen plenty of fish tailing, even in the exact spot we were fishing, but never that many big fish at once. Once we caught a few fish and were all able to relax, it was just as entertaining to sit back and enjoy the show. Seeing that many fish, that close to the boat was simply amazing. Eventually a few of the boats got close enough together to talk with each other. My boat even stopped fishing the last few minutes of the day and cheered on captain Ray's boat as Bill Dickerson brought in the last bull redfish of the trip.

Sharing that experience was something I doubt any of us will ever forget. I'm just glad we had so many witnesses. Luckily, we had plenty of friends with us, to share such an unbelievable experience. Watching that many fish with half their bodies out of the water, It was a "Tall Tail"...
